

“Acrylic paintings inspired by my life in the Dominican Republic”

ABOUT THE ARTIST

My name is Liza Morales and I am a Dominican artist born and raised in Santiago de Los Caballeros. I started my art journey by studying fashion design, creating fashion illustrations. Later I started to develop my skills with portraits and landscapes with acrylics and it became my passion.

My work is inspired on my Dominican heritage, the memories of my childhood growing up there and my life now as I return after being far from home for seven years. Now with fresh eyes I seek to capture the mundane and simple through a surrealist lense where I express my emotions and retell stories that inspire me.

ARTISTS STATEMENT

I fell in love with acrylics and developed my skill focusing on portraits, portraying emotion and stories through facial expressions and paintings full of symbolism.

It has become a way to, not only express how I feel, but more so understand my emotions and use them as a mirror where I try to find meaning to the images that I put on the canvas.

And through my work I also attempt to create a connection with anyone else who might relate, to feel a little less lonely while navigating nostalgia.
